OPENING RIBBON IS CUT ON THE SHAW HALL RENOVATIONS FOR THE MUSIC & RECORDING INDUSTRY PROGRAM’S NEW CLASSROOM STUDIO

SCHOOL OF ARTS, BUSINESS & SCIENCE PROGRAMS MOVE IN TO NEW AND RENOVATED STUDIOS

Melinda Casilli

The Hocking College School of Arts, Business, and Sciences (ABS) recently completed updates across campus.

A brand new music and recording studio was built on the second floor of Shaw Hall, bringing the Music and Recording Industry Program back to campus. Classes had previously been in an outdated building off-campus. Renovations in Shaw Hall included installing top-of-the-line industry-standard hardware and software, analog and digital recording technology, and acoustic treatments for the space. Care and consideration were given to the installation of these treatments to guarantee the best sound in the new studio. Also added was a brand new up-right Yamaha P22 piano.

These new updates to the building and technology will give the Music and Recording Industry students the hands-on learning environment they need for success in the music and recording industry. Last month, a private ribbon cutting event was held at the new Music and Recording Studio with the Hocking College Board of Trustees, to celebrate the achievements and improvements in the new space.

2022 SPRING GALA & DINNER

The Hocking College Foundation will host “A Gatsby Gala,” the 2022 Spring Gala & Fundraiser, on Saturday, May 7, 2022. The event will be held at The Lodge at Hocking College in Nelsonville, OH. Doors open at 5:00 p.m. This year’s black-tie gala will have a Roaring 20’s theme. 1920’s-inspired dress is encouraged but not required. Tickets are $100 for a single person and $190 for a couple and can be purchased online at foundation.hocking.edu/spring-gala.

The gala begins at 5:00 p.m. with signature cocktails and live music. Then at 6:00 p.m., an interactive murder mystery dinner theatre show will be performed by the Hocking College performing arts students followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. The Hocking College Culinary Arts Program has created the fabulous four-course menu for the gala, which includes dinner options of beef wellington, salmon or cauliflower steak.

The live auction will begin at 8:00 p.m. with several auction items available, donated by local businesses and artisans as well as Hocking College students and alumni. All proceeds from the event go to the Hocking College Foundation, which provides scholarships and emergency funding for Hocking College students. This fundraiser directly impacts the ability of students to attend college and achieve their goals of obtaining a degree.

Hocking College’s Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising Program to Host Fashion Show

Hocking College’s Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising program will host its Inaugural Fashion Show on April 22, 2022 at 6:00 p.m. at The Lodge at Hocking College in Nelsonville, Ohio. The show will showcase student work from the Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising program, and is open to the community to attend.

The show will reflect a culmination of work and designs created during the students’ entire program. Each second-year student will feature a three-design collection, and first-year students will feature one design. This show will also give students the experience of planning and producing a live fashion show.

Tickets for the show are $20 for general admission or $75 for VIP admission. General admission will include entry at 6:30, general seating and a cash bar. VIP admission includes entry at 6:00, front row seating, a VIP lounge, designer meet and greet, hors d’oeuvres and a complimentary drink ticket. All proceeds from the show will go towards student scholarships and supplies for the Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising program.

Sponsorship opportunities for the event are also available. The cost for sponsorship is $250 and includes two VIP admissions. The sponsoring company or organization would be designated as a sponsor of the 2022 Fashion Show and will be recognized on promotional materials, signage and select social media and email marketing campaigns.

Tickets can be found online at hocking.edu/fashion-show. For more information about the fashion show, contact Coral Wedel, Program Manager of Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising at wedelc@hocking.edu.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED ON CAMPUS @ HOCKING COLLEGE

Melinda Casilli

New students might be wondering why they should get involved on campus; they might feel like they have enough going on with classes, studying and student employment, so adding one more thing to their to-do list isn’t a high priority.

Hocking College believes that getting involved is worth their time, and puts a priority on student engagement in clubs, campus organizations, student events and sports and athletic opportunities.

For many students, college is the time when they learn more about themselves. They have the opportunity to try new things, discover who they are and where their interests lie. Getting involved in extracurricular activities can help alleviate stress, give students a break from studying, build their skill set, be part of a team and feel part of a larger group.

One way to get involved at Hocking College is to join a student club. The college currently has a variety of active clubs which are open to students from any degree or certificate program. Some of the student clubs with regular meeting times are:

Epicuran Club - A student organization celebrating fine foods and beverages. They hold cooking competitions, run cheesemaking clinics and take field trips to unique grocery stores.

Marketing Club - This organization meets weekly to discuss marketing problems and solutions in today’s world, both on and off campus.

Future Farmers of America (FFA) Collegiate Chapter - This collegiate chapter of the FFA organization supports high school FFA chapters and plans competitions and events for the local FFA community.

Collegiate Horsemen’s Association (CHA) - The Hocking College CHA is a collegiate chapter of the national organization. The club hopes to enhance students’ knowledge of the equine field and provide equine education to the local community.

International Student Club - The International Student Club socializes, schedules outings and fundraisers for students from all backgrounds.

Performing Arts Club - This club gives students the opportunity to participate in creative writing, performing, directing, costume design and stage management.

Rainbow Alliance - This club is a safe place for anyone who wants to join: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Intersex and Asexual students and those who want to be better allies to their friends and family in the LGBTQIA+ community.

Rugby Club - This is a brand new club for 2022 which will meet to play, watch and discuss rugby.

Wildlife Club - The Wildlife Club is affiliated with The Wildlife Society, an international organization dedicated to Wildlife Research and Conservation. They participate in wildlife-related events throughout the region, attend conferences, and complete wildlife and conservation projects on and around campus.

Academic organizations also meet regularly at Hocking College, including the National Society of Leadership and Success, the nation’s largest accredited leadership honor society. The Hocking College chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) Honors Society also meets weekly, and students must apply for membership with the organization.

In addition to these clubs and organizations, the Hocking College Nature Center and the Robbins Crossing Historical Village have volunteer opportunities available for students within walking distance of the Nelsonville campus. Students are also encouraged to volunteer to assist with and participate in large-scale campus events such as the Black Diamond Music and Arts Festival in the upcoming summer of 2022.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

CONT. FROM PG 1: SCHOOL OF ARTS, BUSINESS & SCIENCE PROGRAMS MOVE IN TO NEW AND RENOVATED STUDIOS

In addition to the new music and recording studio, the School of Arts, Business & Science continues to make renovations and improvements on classroom, lab and studio spaces across campus. The college also renovated the new screening room and iMac editing lab for the Film & Video Production Program. The renovations included new carpet, drywall and paint in addition to new technology. The iMacs in the lab give students more space to be creative and more opportunity to get hands-on experience using the professional tools that are becoming standard in their industry.

Carrie Love, Program Manager of Film & Video Production says “We are all very excited about the Film Program’s new screening room/iMac editing lab. Students are already taking advantage of the space by working on projects in the evenings and over weekends. In addition to a video editing lab, the room is designed for screenings and production meetings. It’s been a game-changer in terms of preparing our students to be successful filmmakers”.

NEW FILM & VIDEO PRODUCTION IMAC EDITING LAB

RENOVATED FILMING STUDIO IN USE BY STUDENTS

Last year’s renovations in the school included a new sewing lab and retail lab space for the Fashion Design & Retail Merchandising Program, which includes screenprinting, weaving, sewing, mending and other textile-based tools. Thanks to these new resources, the program was able to launch its own entrepreneurial venture of HC Alterations, a mending service available at low cost to the local community and to Hocking College faculty and staff, and at no cost to Hocking College students.

SCREENPRINTING TOOLS IN THE FASHION DESIGN LAB

SEWING LAB WITH COMMERCIAL-STANDARD MACHINES

The School of Arts, Business & Science won’t be stopping with those renovations; the college is currently working on renovations to create a new biology lab located in Davidson Hall that will benefit students in the school of Arts, Business & Science as well as students in the School of Allied Health and Nursing. Emily Boyer, Program Manager of General Studies & Academic Assessment said, “The anatomy and physiology lab will provide students with the hands-on experience used to enhance lessons learned from other classes. With the expansion of the lab, students will now be able to work in groups studying the human body and how it works.”

The new Theatre program at Hocking College, which just began accepting students in Autumn of 2021, will also be getting a renovated space in Shaw Hall to practice hands-on theatre performance as well as backstage crew, set and lighting work. The new theatre classroom and lab space will be across the hall from the renovated music & recording lab.

The School of Arts, Business, and Science offers fourteen degree and ten certificate programs. These programs teach students valuable skills for success in any career, from critical thinking and problem-solving to implementing career-appropriate technology. Classes provide hands-on learning while also giving students community, cultural, and global awareness. They also offer transfer opportunities for those students who want to pursue a bachelor’s degree from four-year institutions.

HAWKS MEN’S BASKETBALL ADVANCE TO OCCAC CHAMPIONSHIPS; HAWKS #3 ADAMS NAMED NJCAA PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Hocking College’s Men’s Basketball Team finished the OCCAC regular season 24-1, after the win against Terra State on February 26th. The last win secured their #1 status in Ohio with the OCCAC and maintained their #10 spot in the NJCAA. In March, the team begins playing in the OCCAC tournament; if they win their next two games, they will advance to the NJCAA National Tournament. The Hocking College Men’s Basketball team has goals of winning this year’s national tournament. Head coach Ryan Miley ensures that every day, the team focuses on improving their skills to meet this goal.

Coach Miley has been the Head Basketball Coach at Hocking College for four seasons. Under his guidance, he’s taken the team from 10-20 his first season to currently being 24-1. The team also has a winning streak in the classroom with a combined GPA of 3.08. The team’s three captains, Trevell Adams, James Moore and Jeff Aime were all on the Hocking College Autumn 2021 Dean’s List.

It’s been important to Coach Miley that players know they are students first and basketball players second. To reiterate this with his team, he’s implemented some practices to assure his athletes’ success. Every week, players have 7-10 hours of designated study time, attendance in all classes is mandatory and players have weekly grade checks. These steps help the team stay on top of their assignments.

Coach Miley boasts that his players are “extremely driven and motivated to win in anything they do. I have never been around a more competitive group of student-athletes. They do all the little things we talk about daily which leads to the success we have found throughout the season. Everyone is willing to sacrifice for the team and put in the work to win at this level”.

Coach Miley also believes his players will continue to be successful in life because of the level of commitment and dedication they bring to everything. They all are “genuinely good-hearted people that are true student-athletes”.

To further highlight Hocking College’s recent success in Men’s Basketball, one of the student captains #3 Trevell Adams was named NJCAA (National Junior College Athletic Association) Player of the Week for the week of February 14-20. Adams has earned the state title of OCCAC (Ohio Community College Athletic Conference) Player of the Week five times this season, including two back-to-back wins for the week beginning February 14 and the week beginning February 21. Adding on the national “Player of the Week” title from the NJCAA on top of his OCCAC accolades and his impressive Dean’s List academic status is extra motivation for this Freshman player to continue to improve.

Head coach Ryan Miley was recently awarded JUCO Coach of the Week by HoopDirt.com, an online collegiate basketball news center, recognizing his exceptional coaching techniques and the team’s overall success in competitive play so far this year. The National Championship season begins in mid-March, and the Hawks are hoping to secure a spot in the national championships after winning the OCCAC Conference. Championship schedules are being organized by the NJCAA, and will be announced in coming weeks.

HOCKING COLLEGE FOUNDATION
HOSTS SCHOLARSHIP & DONOR
APPRECIATION DINNER

Stephanie DiFrancesco

The Hocking College Foundation provides scholarships to Hocking College students, thanks to the generous donations it receives from community donors. Each year, the Foundation gathers its donors and its scholarship recipients together to meet at a dinner event. Sometimes for the first time, students have the opportunity to meet the donors who funded their scholarship; likewise, the donors get the chance to speak with the students whose lives they impacted.

At this year’s event which was held on February 15, 2022, guests were invited from the Hocking College Foundation Board of Trustees, Hocking College staff and administration, scholarship donors and student scholarship recipients. Guests heard from two student scholarship recipients, who shared stories of how their scholarships impacted their lives, as well as two donors who shared their personal stories for why they choose to donate.

REMARKS FOR THE SCHOLARSHIP & DONOR APPRECIATION DINNER

Doug Wells, Director of the Hocking College Foundation also spoke about the positive growth of the Foundation and the increased scholarship opportunities that they have been able to provide. Hocking College president Dr. Betty Young gave closing remarks at the event.

In addition to the speeches, students at each table had a unique story to share about how their scholarship impacted their life and education. Whenever possible, students were seated at the tables alongside the donors that represented their scholarships. Stories were shared across the tables, and both donors and students learned from one another’s experiences.

The next event that the Hocking College Foundation will be hosting is the annual Spring Gala, a fundraising event for the Foundation. It will be held on the evening of May 7, 2022 and is open to the public. Tickets can be purchased at <https://foundation.hocking.edu/spring-gala>. All proceeds go directly to the Foundation, providing scholarships to the students of Hocking College.

HOCKING COLLEGE STUDENTS TO ENJOY
LOCAL THEATRE PERFORMANCE

Melinda Casilli

On March 18th, 19th and 20th, Hocking College will take 45 students to see Sister Act at the historic Stuart’s Opera House in Nelsonville, Ohio. The musical is presented by ABC Players (Athenian Berean Community Players) theatre of Southeast Ohio. The musical is based on the 1991 film of the same title about a disco singer who finds herself hiding out in a convent after witnessing a murder and being placed into a protection program.

Stuart’s Opera House has been bringing live performances from all over the globe to the area for years. Stuart’s is also a unique venue for any special event such as graduations, meetings, weddings and receptions.

The Performing Arts Club at Hocking College wanted to see the performance of Sister Act and started to plan a fundraiser to raise money to cover the cost of tickets. The Hocking College Director of Student Activities, Kevin Cox, heard about their interest in seeing the play and stepped in. He thought that the opportunity to see this show should be opened up to the entire student population, and would be a wonderful activity for the whole school. He was able to purchase tickets for up to 15 students per showtime, and opened up the registration to the student body to attend for free.

The Student Affairs department at Hocking College offers many activities for students to get off campus and enjoy the area with classmates, as well as hosting on-campus activities. Recent excursions this past month have been bowling at local bowling lanes and movie nights, all offered for free for all current students with transportation from campus. The college is committed to supporting local businesses both in and around Nelsonville, OH and Athens County.
